To provide investment services, JB Capital Markets will classify each of the clients to whom it provides these services into one of the following categories: Retail Client, Professional Client or Eligible Counterparty.

JB Capital Markets provides investment and ancillary services only to clients classified as Professional Clients or Eligible Counterparties.

The category assigned to a client under the criteria established in the regulations determines the standards of protection applicable to the client:

- Per se Professional Clients: Clients are considered to have the experience, knowledge and qualifications required to take their own investment decisions and correctly assess the risk inherent to these decisions.²
- Eligible counterparties: Entities that usually act directly in the financial markets and therefore have the lowest level of protection.

With the information available to JB Capital Markets, we notify you of your classification as a Professional Client with respect to all the investment services that we provide for you under MiFID II.

As a Professional Client, you enjoy a lower level of protection than that granted to Retail Clients. In particular, Professional Clients may receive less information than Retail Clients about contracts, associated costs and expenses, financial instruments, the investment services company or other aspects.

Under the provision of the regulation, you are entitled to request a different categorization either in general or for each trade (i.e. Retail Client or Eligible Counterparty). However, you should be aware that JB Capital Markets is unable to provide services directly to Retail Clients and shall not continue to provide these services if you request this category. If you request to be classified as Eligible Counterparty, you will lose certain regulatory protection, including that relating to the "best execution"

To discuss your classification, please contact JB Capital Markets.

You should be aware that, in order to provide services to a Professional Client, MiFID II requires you to enter into a basic written agreement with our firm. We will therefore not be able to begin to provide services to you until you return the basic agreement we will send you, signed by a person with sufficient authority to represent your firm.

We would also like to remind you that you are obliged to inform us of any change that may affect our capacity to remain in such category. If any information we have on you is incorrect, please contact us so that we can update it.

JB Capital Markets aspires to act as a long-term adviser for its clients, offering high-quality independent financial advice services and excellence of execution in relation to its areas of business: Corporate Finance / Mergers and Acquisitions, Equity Capital Markets and Debt Capital Markets.

JB Capital Markets only provides this service to Professional Clients and Eligible Counterparties with whom it has entered into a written financial advice agreement. JB Capital Markets does not therefore offer financial advice to its clients to whom this document is addressed, as this service is defined in Section B (3) of Annex I to MiFID II.

Investment advice

JB Capital Markets is authorized to provide investment advice services, understood as the provision of personalized recommendations to the client, either at client's request or at the initiative of JB Capital Markets, with respect of one or more transactions relating to financial instruments.

JB Capital Markets only provides this service to Professional Clients and Eligible Counterparties with whom it has entered into a specific agreement. As a result, JB Capital Markets does not offer investment advice to those clients to whom this document is addressed, as such service defined in Section A (5) to Annex I of MIFID II. As a result, we ask you to send confirmation that you do not expect to receive investment advice from JB Capital Markets in the document of consent issued for this purposes.

When JB Capital Markets provides investment advice services, it will always do so on an independent basis, which implies that the regulation in relation to this service does not allow it to receive inducements from third parties in relation to the provision of the service to clients and to include a broad range of financial instruments among its recommendations, which in any case will be instruments of third-party with which JB Capital Markets does not have close links.

Before providing the investment advice service, JB Capital Markets must assess the client's risk profile to determine what is required. To do so, JB Capital Markets will assess the client's investment objective, including the risk tolerance (suitability assessment). As they are Professional Clients per se and Eligible Counterparties, JB Capital Markets is not obliged to assess their knowledge and experience, and can assume that they can face any investment risk from a financial point of view that is consistent with the objectives they have indicated. If JB Capital Markets does not have the information needed for suitability assessment, it shall not provide the investment advice service.

5. POLICY ON CONFLICT OF INTEREST

Pursuant to regulatory requirements, JB Capital Markets has a conflict of interest policy in place with specific procedures that allow it to identify, register, prevent and, where necessary, manage possible conflicts of interest proactively, as well as mitigating where appropriate, and as far as possible, the potential impact of these risks.

JB Capital Markets will at all times adopt appropriate measures to detect, avoid and, where possible, manage possible conflicts of interest that may arise at any time in the provision of any investment or ancillary service, with the purpose of preventing them from harming our client's interest.

In cases where the measures adopted are not sufficient to guarantee the avoidance of harm to clients, JB Capital Markets will clearly disclose the nature and origin of the conflict of interest before the provision of the relevant services.

The policy on conflicts of interest deals with the following matters:

- Identification of the activities, types of instruments and transactions which give rise to, or may give rise to a potential conflict of interest in relation to investment service carried out on own account or on behalf of a third party, from which there is a significant risk of impairment of the interests of one or more clients.
- Design and specification of the procedures to be followed and the measures to be adopted to identify, prevent and manage such potential conflicts, with the aim of guaranteeing the independence of people who are engaged in this activity.
- Design and specification of procedures for notifying its clients of the existence and nature of the potential conflict of interest that derives from the provision of the investment or ancillary service, before the service is provided, as well as the measures adopted to mitigate this conflict, if such a conflict cannot be avoided. Thus clients will have the appropriate information available to decide whether they consider it appropriate to continue with their planned investment.

For more information on the policy, clients may visit the JB Capital Markets website: <https://www.jbcm.com/legalnotice/>.

6. ORDER EXECUTION POLICY

To comply with regulatory requirements, JB Capital Markets has a best execution policy that includes measures considered sufficient to obtain the best possible result when executing or transmitting client orders. The regulation requires that all sufficient measures to be adopted to obtain the best possible result, taking into account the price, costs, speed, probability of execution and settlement, volume, nature or any other consideration pertinent to the execution of the order.

This policy shall apply to all Professional Client orders, regardless of the instrument involved. However, the trading venue where the execution takes place or the intermediary selected, and the criteria and factors for best execution will vary depending on the financial instrument involved in each order.

We will not owe best execution to clients classified as Eligible Counterparties; for these entities the Order Execution Policy is for information purposes only.

On executing client orders, JB Capital Markets will take into account the following criteria for determining the relative importance of the factors mentioned above:

- a. the characteristics of the client;
- b. the characteristics of the client's order;
- c. the characteristics of the financial instruments that are object of this order;
- d. the characteristics of the trading venues to which such an order can be directed.

JB Capital Markets informs its clients that, if necessary, certain orders may be executed outside a trading venue. We must obtain their express prior consent to execute order outside a trading venue. To give your consent, please return the completed and signed document of consent.

When executing orders or taking decisions to deal in OTC products, including bespoke products, JB Capital Markets will check the fairness of the price proposed to the client by collecting market data used in the estimation of the price of such product, and as far as possible, by comparing with similar or comparable products.

If the client issues a specific instruction, JB Capital Markets will execute the order following this specific instruction, and therefore the best execution requirements will be considered covered with respect to this order, or at least with respect to the factors of the order affected by the

The client is warned that specific instructions for executing a particular order following this specific instruction, and therefore the best execution requirements will be considered covered with respect to this order, or at least with respect to the factors of the order affected by the instruction.

A copy of the Order Execution Policy will be submitted to Professional Clients before the provision of the intermediation services, and is also available to clients on the website <https://www.jbcm.com/legalnotice/>. The Order Execution Policy will be reviewed every year.

JB Capital Markets is obliged to obtain the prior consent of its Professional Clients to the Order Execution Policy. For your convenience, please send this consent through a completed and signed document of consent to compliance@jbcm.com. This consent shall be considered to be implied if you transmit any order to JB Capital Markets, even if you have expressly given such consent.

In addition, with respect to each class of financial instrument, the five main execution venues in which Professional Client's orders were executed the previous year in terms of trading volumes will be published every year on the JB Capital Markets website. This annual publication will also list the five main entities to which client orders have been transmitted for execution the previous year, broken down by each class of financial instrument.

9. INFORMATION ON FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS AND ASSOCIATED INVESTMENT RISKS

Information on equity financial instruments and associated investment risks

The main characteristics and most common risks associated with Equities financial instruments are described below.

The main equity instrument is shares. Shares represent a proportional part of the shareholders' capital of a company; shareholders are therefore co-owners of the companies in proportion to their participation. They are tradeable, and freely transferable equity securities. Investment in a company's shares may be made at the time they are issued or put into circulation, or by accessing a secondary regulated market or the multilateral trading facility where they are traded.

The different risks linked to the instruments indicated above are specified below:

- Equity risk: Risk of changes in the value of the financial instrument caused by fluctuation in share prices.
- Interest-rate risk: Risk of changes in the value of the financial instrument caused by interest-rate variation.
- Market liquidity risk: Risk of penalty or discount on the price of the securities as a consequence of its difficulty to be sold.
- Exchange rate risk: Change in the value of the financial instrument derived from a variation in the currency exchange rate, when the financial instrument is denominated in a currency other than the Euro, or the investor's currency if it is different from the euro.
- Risk due to repayment limitation: It is possible that the payment of dividends or other form of remuneration by the Issuer may be subject to a variety of factors. Dividend payments in cash depend on earnings, solvency and the entity's financial situation, its liquidity requirements and agreements with creditors that limit dividend payment, among other factors. The issuer of the shares may not pay any dividends.
- Volatility risk: Risk of a variation in the value of the financial instruments caused by an increase in the risk that the market attributes to financial instruments issued by the issuer.

Other instruments include pre-emptive subscription rights that grant their holders the right to subscribe shares in a capital increase under the terms established in the agreements adopted by the issuer. They are transferable securities that may be transferred freely and admitted to trading on a market in which the shares derived from them are traded. They are issued for a limited period of time that must be at least fifteen days (pre-emptive subscription period).

Pre-emptive subscription rights are assigned to the shareholders of the issuing company and may be acquired in the market on which they are traded, considered in this second case as complex instruments for the purposes of MIFID II.

These securities are affected by some of the main risks indicated for shares (exchange rate, liquidity and equity), although they are also affected by specific risks such as the following:

- Termination risk: The subscription rights not exercised during the pre-emptive subscription period are extinguished automatically. As a result, the holders of pre-emptive subscription rights that do not exercise or sell the subscription rights will lose them and not receive any type of financial compensation for them.
- Dependence on the share price: The price of pre-emptive subscription rights depends on the price of the shares from which they derive. At the same time, the subscription price of the capital increase may be higher than the price of the shares on the stock exchange, so that the owners that have exercised the subscription rights will have undertaken to subscribe shares at a higher price than the market price. In this case, there is the possibility that the market price of the rights fall significantly.

10. POST-CONTRACTUAL INFORMATION

Information regarding the execution of orders not related to portfolio management

Where JB Capital Markets has executed an order on behalf of a client, unrelated to portfolio management, JB Capital Markets will promptly provide the client, on a durable medium, with essential information concerning the execution of that order and will send a notification to the client on a durable medium confirming such execution as soon as possible and no later than the first business day after execution or, in the event that JB Capital Markets intermediates the order, no later than the first business day after receipt of the confirmation by the third party.

When JB Capital Markets sells financial instruments, as well as when providing services on recurring basis, JB Capital Markets will provide each client with aggregate information at least annually on the costs and expenses of investments and the incentives received or paid in connection therewith.

ANNEX I. EMIR LETTER

Subject: Compliance with Article 39.7 of EMIR

Regulation (EU) N° 648/2012, of 4 July 2012, on OTC derivatives, central counterparties and trade repositories (hereinafter, "EMIR") is a regulation that in compliance with the commitments of the Pittsburgh G20 summit strengthens the European Regulatory framework by establishing new obligations for Central Counterparty Clearing Houses (CCP).

In compliance with articles 39.5 and 39.7 of EMIR, each Clearing House and clearing members must offer their customers at least the choice between "omnibus client segregation account" (hereinafter "OCS") and "individual client segregation account" (hereinafter "ICS") and inform them of the costs and level of protection associated with each option.

JB Capital Markets, S.V., S.A.U. ("JB Capital Markets") is considered a non-clearing member of BME Clearing, through a general clearing member, offering the following types of accounts:

OCS: Omnibus client segregation account

The OCS model is that currently used by JB Capital Markets for BME Clearing through a General Clearing Member.

JB Capital Markets segregates its proprietary positions and those of its clients that are registered in the omnibus account.

In case of insolvency of the member, if BME CLEARING decides to close the Client Segregation Account, the resulting outstanding balance will be repaid to the Member through the insolvency administrator, for the account of the Clients. Receivables must be assumed by the Member to recover any balances receivable resulting from the closure of the account.

The OCS model allows optimization of guarantees in the clearance, simplification of the reconciliation of transactions with BME Clearing and a reduction in the settlement cost.

There will be no additional cost for choosing the OCS in JB Capital Markets.

ICS: individual client segregation account

The ICS model allows clients to choose individual segregated account in which to register their position and assets. This model is an individualization of clients' positions and asset in individual segregated accounts in the books of BME Clearing.

In case of insolvency of the Member, this segregation allows transfer of the client's segregated transaction to another clearing member.

The choice of this model involves additional cost, such as the increase in guarantees and increase in settlements. As a result, the Member may, as well as charging BME Clearing cost, charge the client additional fees for the management of ICS accounts.

It should be noted that except in the case that you request us in writing for a different segregation model, the model applied by JB Capital Markets is the OCS model.

You may find additional information on the levels of protection, associated costs and the main legal implications of the different levels of segregation offered and information on the legislation on applicable legislation in the following link to the BME Clearing website:

http:// www.bmeclearing.es/ en/Participantes/Estructura/ SegregacionYPortabiliad.aspx.
